CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

Skill preparation and planning for health care transition for children and youth with special health care needs (CYSHCN) is inadequate. Less than 50% of families nationwide indicate that their CYSHCN have received the services necessary to make appropriate transitions to adult health care, work, and independence. One of the major problems to receiving this care is the lack of a physician workforce trained in providing the services necessary to make the health care transition. There is a strong need on the part of physicians to have the knowledge and skills to provide services to facilitate successful transition from pediatric to adult-based care and services.

Due to increased awareness in transitioning to adult-based care, clinicians are required to be updated on changing strategies for integrating emerging adult-based care into practice.

For all conference participants, there will be a discussion of the legal issues involved in health care transition, as well as, time to meet and talk with faculty, to exchange ideas among participants, and share knowledge and information about how best to plan for a successful transition to adulthood.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Physicians in internal medicine, family practice, pediatric psychiatry, and psychiatry; other health care providers including, psychologists, social workers, nurses, dietitians, case managers, counselors, and primary care providers; youth and young adults with chronic illness and their parents/guardians.

OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of the conference, participants should be able to:

- Identify the current state of health care transition in the U.S., including legal and financial issues.
- Develop transition quality improvement strategies and measurements that incorporate the Six Core Elements of Health Care Transition.
- Develop a practice-based framework for implementing health care transition services.
- Identify barriers and successful strategies when placing youth and young adults with special health care needs, behavioral health, and intellectual disabilities into employment, housing, and available medical transition services.
- Identify how to build capacity in caring for young adults with special health care needs.
